"COUNT" TO HAVE ANOTHER CHANCE.

Defect in First Indictment Gives Willy Frenchman a Second Hearing.

The many El Pasoans interested in Count' de Lucenny will have an opportunity of witnessing another trial of the "count" on the same charge of bigamy, says the Times. There was a fatal defect in the first indictment, and according to the decisions of the court of appeals of this state the decision of the trial court would not stand if the matter were taken up to the criminal court of appears. But because of the defect in the indictment the "count" will not be dismissed on the ground of being twice put in jeopardy as the law holds that jeopardy does not attach ment under which a defendant has been tried.

sant Judge Burns yesterday our client will get another trial. The amountion have discovered that they receiled utaler a defective ment and therefore had the defendant indicted again on the same charge There was a vice in the indictment be cause it did not set out the name of the defendant's first spouse, which the murt of appeals has held is also necessary and in which case the entir superstructure of the indictment must
